

Southern Africa

South Africa - Botswana - Zambia - Zimbabwe

Namibia - Mozambique - Mauritius

In every direction of Southern Africa there are places to enthral and excite, relax and rejuvenate.

Southern Africa encompasses many countries in its region - South Africa located on the southern tip of Africa; Botswana, Namibia, Mozambique and Zimbabwe who all border South Africa; Zambia which is further north and Mauritius, located in the Indian Ocean. All of these countries are unique and offer a wonderful range of experiences.

South Africa is considered the main gateway to the region and it is great introduction to this wonderful continent. It offers a good year round climate, stunning landscapes, superb wines, innovative cuisine an incredible array of wildlife and conservation areas, world-class sporting facilities - including superb golf courses - and a rich vibrant social, cultural and political history.

The other regions each offer their own unique parts of Africa that are truly awe inspiring, full of natural beauty and wild life. Some of the more famous features are Victoria Falls in Zambia/Zimbabwe and the Okavango Delta and Chobe National Park in Botswana.

Mauritius is a totally different experience - it is an island with a mosaic of cultures that has evolved from its history as a trading route. Full of exotcic resorts, beautiful beaches, great food, music and culture it makes the perfect combination trip with mainland Southern Africa.
